

Fluor Corporation (NYSE:FLR) Publishes 2012 Sustainability Report

Global engineering, procurement, construction, fabrication and project management company Fluor Corporation has published its 2012 Sustainability Report, "Challenges / Solutions," available online at www.fluor.com/sustainability/Pages/report.aspx. The report highlights the company's progress in key focus areas of Ethics & Compliance; Governance; Employees & Workplace; Health, Safety & Environment; and Community & Social Service.

"Challenges / Solutions" marks Fluor's fifth year publishing a sustainability report, and focuses on the company's employees overcoming the challenges of completing the world's most complex projects while still focusing on sustainable practices that leave communities better than they were before.

- Notable 2012 sustainability accomplishments include:
- Being named one of the World's Most Ethical Companies by Ethisphere Magazine for the seventh consecutive year.
- Number one in the engineering and construction sector for FORTUNE Magazine's "Most Admired Companies" list.
- Over a seven-year period, Fluor achieved a 43-percent reduction in its normalized carbon footprint.
- Highest ranking engineering, procurement and construction management company in Newsweek's Green Ranking for publically traded companies.
- Fluor and its employees contributed more than $7.4 million in 2012 in financial support to philanthropic community initiatives and programs. Employees volunteered more than 31,000 hours to community projects around the globe.

For more than 100 years, Fluor Corporation (NYSE: FLR) has partnered with its clients to design, build and maintain many of the world's most challenging and complex capital projects. Through its global network of offices on six continents, more than 41,000 employees provide comprehensive capabilities and world-class expertise in the fields of engineering, procurement, construction, commissioning, fabrication, operations, maintenance and project management. Today, the company serves a global client base in the energy, chemicals, government, industrial, infrastructure, operations & maintenance, manufacturing & life sciences, mining, power and transportation sectors. Headquartered in Irving, Texas, Fluor ranks 110 on the FORTUNE 500 list and had revenue of $27.6 billion in 2012. For more information, visit www.fluor.com and follow Fluor on Twitter at @FluorCorp.

source: ReportAlert

17/07/2013