

BAE Systems (LON:BA) publishes 2014 Annual Report

BAE Systems attaches great importance to the way it does business, as well as the financial results it achieves. The company continues to build on its position as one of the world's largest and most geographically diverse defence, aerospace and security companies. To reflect its integrated approach, the company continues to report corporate responsibility performance in its Annual Report.

This year's report demonstrates the progress the company is making in its corporate responsibility agenda. It focuses on the company's strategy and performance in key areas of business conduct, safety, diversity and inclusion and environmental sustainability. And also provides a clear statement about how the company intends to continuously improve performance in these areas.

The 2014 report highlights include:

- continued progress in engaging employees and developing the company's ethics programme
- the company's approach to embedding safety across the company's operations so that all employees understand the importance of a safe workplace
- progress in developing a diversity and inclusion strategy to help the company build a workforce that more closely reflects the diversity of the local population in each of the company's markets
- the company's progress in reducing the environmental impacts of its operations.
