

Matt Fairfield
CEO
EXIN Group

Matt Fairfield is a distinguished entrepreneur with 28 years of experience in the insurance and reinsurance sectors.

In 2011, he established ANV Holdings BV, a global specialty insurance group based in Amsterdam, with Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan as its lead LP. Under his direction, the firm grew organically and through the acquisition and revamping of three Lloyd's of London syndicates 1861, 5820 and 779. By the time he stepped down from ANV in 2015, Matt had built an insurance and reinsurance business with annual gross managed premium of US$ 1bn, with offices in Barcelona, Kansas City, London, New Jersey and Rio de Janeiro.

Matt began his insurance career as an underwriter at AIG in 1989. After joining Aetna/Executive Risk in 1991 he founded and managed UAP Executive Partners, a joint venture between Union des Assurances de Paris ("UAP") and Aetna/Executive Risk, providing financial lines liability insurance outside of the United States from their Paris based offices. After AXA's merger with UAP the company was later renamed AXA Global Risk.

In 1999, Matt co-founded MAG Global Financial Products, a Barcelona based underwriting agency specializing in financial lines liability insurance. In 2002, while he was Chairman and CEO of MAG, the company was acquired by HCC Insurance Holdings to underwrite financial lines and related products globally and went on to become their most profitable subsidiary.

Matt is a sought after public speaker and has appeared frequently at numerous industry events.
